Indian Tribal Sovereignty
What constitutional powers establish Indian Sovereignty and allow government to eliminate constitutional rights in Indian Country?
1. Commerce Clause - regulates commerce, NOT LAND
2. Property Clause - regulates Federal territory
3. Treaty Clause - Federal Treaties

VERTICAL SEPARATION OF POWERS IS FEDERALISM
-the proper balance of state versus federal authority-

This is my second fax and email to everyone regarding the government representatives and senators involved in the Federal-State-CSKT (Confederated Salish & Kootenai Tribes) Water Compact Takings. This is another attempt to convey what I think is going on regarding the fed-Montana state-CSKT Tribal Water Compact and a buried forest taking bill - <http://www.freedomforallseasons.org/FreedomFromWaterTakings.asp>.

I ask all property owners to take action on this news and fax the above U.S. State Senators and Representatives and tell them to stop these bills so they may be further vetted, e.g. Public comments, EIS, and subcommittee hearings. This will come to your state next if it is not stopped now, if you have reservations.

This action of “compacting/bundling” energy, water and timber, et al to camouflage the agenda tell all. This compact process is a band aid to mediate the potential “aboriginal rights” claims in court. The sides doing the taking using the “CSKT Water Compact” see this as the best deal they can mediate outside of the court. The tribal legal teams are threatening to file thousands of law suits challenging all water rights in their jurisdiction west and east of the Continental Divide betting they will prevail in federal court.

1. Now let us look at the rest of the story. There is no reference in the state and U.S. constitutions to the tribal reservations. The states own the water and the soil under the water. The tribes are quasi dependent tribal governments and they cannot be sued in this compact deal, how convenient. The tribal governments have no authority to make decisions. Those who favor the CSKT Water Compact say nothing has changed and that all water rights in existence will be honored. There are too many property owners close to this compact who do not believe nor trust those involved in orchestrating the Confederated Salish Kootenai Water Compact. That seems like a reasonable concern to me. There are many who do not want to “bend over” to this deal despite promises by Montana State. So you can say the tribal legal team is using international law of “aboriginal rights” to go after water claims wherever they think the federal courts will allow them to extend their takings.
2. More than half of the Montana district representatives and senators believe federal courts will rule for the tribal water rights takings so they have made a political buyoff called the “CSKT Water Compact” plus other bills of takings. What this means is Montana does not want to fix the real problems creating this situation.
 - a. The 1970 National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), 1971 Montana Environmental Policy Act (MEPA), 1973 Montana State Constitution adopted changes all to require assessment and analysis of all significant projects in Montana and providing Montanans with 35 enumerated rights in including popular sovereignty, the right of participation and the right of self-government. Of course this is all being ignored.
 - b. Montana v. U.S. 450 U.S. 544 in 1981 stopped the Crow tribe from taking non tribal lands.
 - c. Whether this “compact” is right or wrong, those taken see this as an attempt to stampede and deceive Montanan’s into transferring up to 2/3 of Montana State’s water rights to the federal government laundered through the tribes along with national forests of some 200 mile radius from the reservations. The political humor is, the federal government, including the DOI and DOA have no jurisdiction or authority in this state or any other state. This is an ugly deal orchestrated by Governor Bullock, AG Fox, Montana US Senators Tester, Daines and Zinke, et al to exploit and dismantle Montana by their fears and not our fears.
 - d. It gets worse, the fed, Montana state and municipalities want to turn the parks over to the tribes, e.g. the USFWS National Bison Range about an hour and half south of me here in Rollins, Montana. The fed has transferred the Kerr Dam to the Confederated Salish and Kootenai Tribes (CSKT) which holds back Flathead Lake, the largest fresh water lake west of the Mississippi. The local Montana municipalities have turned a blind eye, they like that $20 billion.

3. To briefly review, a very narrow majority of the Montana House and Senate caved in and decided it best to make a deal with the “devil” and draw up a compromise with the CSKT tribe legal team threaten to go after all the water basins around the Flathead Indian Reservation and the water basins west and east Continental Divide. The federal agencies are helping firm up the compact before it is finalized and passed in a disguised bundled bill in U.S. Congress, i.e. DeCeit Inc. This is the proverbial “we are from the government and are here to help you”. They have a hard line solution to compromise with all the water users based on a fear the American federal courts are galvanizing to international law “aboriginal rights”. Canada is big into this legal ideology and Australia is fighting it.
 - a. Here is Montana State DNRC placation not to fear - http://dnrc.mt.gov/divisions/reserved-water-rights-compact-commission/docs/cskt/2_response_to_six_reasons.pdf .
 - b. Here is Dr. Ed Berry’s reasoning on why this CSKT Water Compact is good for Montana and is well written and thought out except for one issue- <http://edberry.com/blog/category/cskt/>
 - i. Dr. Berry reasons well as the cards have been dealt to Montanan’s however, many of Montanans call foul to what they perceive as the deck being stacked for many reasons, some of which you will read herein.
 - c. Here is Montana State DNRC “Report on Proposed Water Right Compact” = <http://dnrc.mt.gov/divisions/reserved-water-rights-compact-commission/docs/cskt/watercompactreport.pdf>
 - d. If you want a real good laugh/cry, read what the BIA says in this report gushing all over the tribes - <http://www.bia.gov/cs/groups/xnifc/documents/document/idc1-030969.pdf>. Federal planning mucking up your unalienable rights again! The planners are planning their own careers first and foremost.

4. Those long into property rights can smell this dialectic agenda brewing already. Those who do not have this insight or experience by prior pain, start labeling those who do see thru the stacked deck as conspiracy types. Thus we quickly come into the “gray zone” of the CSKT Water Compact taking where half the people in Montana, more or less, cannot wrap their mind around how bad and systemic the global to local taking is and how deep down “the rabbit hole” goes. It has taken me much time to weave this all together because I have great respect for a few people on the side of the taking. I ask myself all the time, am I going crazy here or what? I apologize for the length of this report. This whole taking is very complex and convoluted and of course “maybe intentional”, long baked in the ovens of deception. “But we all know that the government would never cook us into a corner forcing us/them to make a decision they have long wanted to”. This is a classic Hegelian Dialectic. You will read in above paragraph all involved pushing this compact swear there is no taking, all is well. They would never see the alternatives to the choices they have presented, i.e. compact we won’t sue you maybe or no compact and we will whip you with a 1000 suits.

5. At the same time there is much more to the story as you may have checked out on my recent update on <http://www.freedomforallseasons.org/FreedomFromWaterTakings.asp>. I agree with Elaine Willman (part American native) that the tribes’ jurisdiction and authority has long been spilling over its reservation boundaries and its own tribal constitution, i.e. they are to stay in their reservation sand box, per the Montana State Constitution and the U.S. Constitution limitations and their own CSKT constitution. Take the opportunity to further educate yourself with Elaine’s book “Going to Pieces – The Dismantling of the United States of America”. Then the big picture will start to materialize in your mind’s eye. The federal government and those who are manipulating the government are cutting up America into bite size sections to chew up individual, state and national sovereignty and unity, thereby to make it easier to sell our natural resources to the highest bidder. Of course no one doing this would ever admit to such a dark side and anyone making such an accusation will be ridiculed. Many Americans are in denial and/or they have given up completely. Those waking up see if we don’t expose these takings, there is a good chance we will wake up in hell in our own home towns USA which will not be our traditional home towns, think Stepford Town USA or Pleasantville, USA.

6. The U.S. Constitution gives no jurisdiction or authority or rights to the tribes yet the federal and state government gush all over them, to some $20 billion annually, why is that, do you suppose? The federal government only has jurisdiction in the states on “Forts, Magazines, Arsenals, dock-Yards, and other needful Buildings” U.S. Constitution, Art. 1, Section 8. Treaties do not trump constitutions as much as you may have been programmed to believe this lie and as much as the federal court judges want to protect their turf instead of the rightful sovereigns who are the state Citizens. Please see table at the top of this letter. The pecking order is (1) individual sovereignty and unalienable rights first, (2) state sovereignty second and (3) federal sovereignty last, not visa-versa.
7. The American Indian tribes deserve no more special treatment than that of the rest of us American state Citizens. I am sick and tired of this federal-state-tribal-non government special interest groups colluding to take more taxes, create more debt, take more of our public and private land, water and timber for a global to local top down control cartel.
 - a. It gets more bazaar check out my research - <http://www.freedomforallseasons.org/FreedomFromWaterTakings.asp>
 - b. Would you believe that the American tribes were near wiped up from disease brought in from the early explores and settlers? Most ironically, it appears in theory only, that the tribes would have been completely wiped out had they not been forced onto reservations where they were more easily vaccinated against these deadly diseases. It appears what we all deplored now and hated the most to do ultimately may have saved the few tribes from total annihilation by “native soil disease”. However, it is now time to give up this reservation “feel bad” ideology. This is what is truly aboriginal, i.e., paying people to be imprisoned on public land to stay there for generation after generation all while 80% of the tribal members got smart and left long ago, all while 80% non natives resettled the reservations! The so called “reservations” have been resettled and no longer serve any purpose other than a geo political platform for the federal government and those using the fed to chew up the states. Another idea is for all to appeal to be resettled on our own aboriginal reservations and be given our corresponding share of the local natural resources? We can’t have it both ways in a free true and honest Republic. I am starting to like the idea of every American state natural born state Citizen registering for its own tribe and rights, let’s call the reservation America, land of the free, home of the brave, one nation under God! “Registering” is called a natural born birth certificate or a rightful naturalization fully vetted legal immigrant who can work and be independent not a burden.
8. The tribes do not own the reservations they live on in America. They may own some acreage in the reservation which is limited in size to them. However, for the most part, reservations are public land which actually passed to the state when each state reached statehood. This too is denied by the fed and the globalist who control some 100 countries through their fiat debt printing presses. The state does not want to interrupt the flow of billions in bride funding rolling in to the tribes and states. Think big bad national and international banking business. This is where the U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs $20 billion and growing comes from, i.e. debt! Compulsory tax taking us used to pay the fiat international debt. When you understand this tentacle of the global octopus, you will awaken in a quantum jump from where you may be otherwise. The federal government involvement in the state is constitutionally very very limited in a true and honest constitutional republic. The globalist and the feds well know this but they do not want to play the game by the fundamental and founding rules, they want to use their rules, e.g. “aboriginal rights” or “Sustaining Development” or “man caused global warming” or “alternative energy” or on and on in whatever form they can concoct to sucker your property and water rights and all of your 70 some unalienable rights! We need to throw the federal government out of the states and return the reservations back to public state lands. There are a group of states working on this plan. Only 20% of the tribes live on reservations and a handful of them are mismanaging the billions of dollars in funding they are receiving. The remaining 80% are non natives. I was conceived and raised in Montana in the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, U.S. Forest Service ranger stations in western Montana, so this is not so easy for me to say. Chief Joseph straighten me out when he said it all “Treat all men alike, give them the same laws”. Brilliant idea right, except this does not work for the global to local taking plans.

9. The reservations were meant to be temporary holding areas to allow the tribes to assimilate into American culture not pretend they are still a separate “nation”. If one race of people in America is a nation, then we all are a Nation United under God. God honors individual free choice well knowing you learn best by your own decisions. If the natives have aboriginal rights, so do the rest of Americans wherever we are from. We have all evolved from tribes. It is nonsense to believe we can go back to a so called “aboriginal state” where we all were “hunter and gathers” and claim water and land rights. The courts do not establish the law, this is the job of the legislature and then juries who try the cases, we may nullify any law we feel unjust. The Co..Urts do not like this truth either, it takes away their over control to the global agenda, One World Government, the big plan in the sky. “Aboriginal rights” is better called huckstering or racketing. Better said, this line of thinking is called insanity. All property rights folks well know where this nonsense is coming from, i.e. “liewyers” and globalists who are on a full court press of fracturing national sovereignty to rearrange the water and land rights in their favor. Lies are worth more money in lower forms of government consciousness than the truth! When you can sell lies like “aboriginal rights”, you know we have regressed from a true and honest free UNITED American Republic under God into globalism, tribalism, “welfareism”, “resettlementism”, nations without borders, name your “ism”, versus respect and honor for One Nation United under God.
10. In a true and honest free American Republic, tribes claiming to be a government cannot donate to political campaigns nor should they be able to accept bribes from other governments. What common sense is there in giving one race of American Citizens tax and debt takings stolen from another race and class and then allowing the tribes to give back financial favors to the same government who gave them the fiat paper? This is called a sting. No government is allowed to give funding to another American government. Municipals are a higher form of government than the tribes and they are prevented from funding political campaigns. All tribal reservation subsidization should be unfunded. The American tax payers cannot afford to support their own families let alone reservations which refuse to assimilate and be independent. This federal-state-tribal relationship is called racketeering.
11. Funding $20 billion annually for American Indian tribes is political laundering of racism gone amuck. We are near 200 years from this terrible era of separating the tribes from the settlement of the West. If the tribes have not learned to coexist on their own in 188 years, it is obvious $20 billion or $20 trillion annually is not going to help. At some point people have to help themselves. How much longer must American’s carry this yoke of guilt? It is insane to continue the U.S. BIA and this tribalism welfare. It is time to wean the BIA off of our blood, sweat and tears which we all have spilled for too long. Let the tribes learn to assimilate and stand on their own.
12. Now the federal and state governments (think benefitting banking cartel behind the curtain) are exploiting the Indians again by using the tribes to launder more land, water, funding, jurisdiction and authority back to the big money and centralized control all while the tribal members struggle to manage their own lives. Elaine Willman reports “every Indian land allottee received a patent inclusive of a water right attached to the Indian and homestead parcels. These patents attached to the Indian and Homestead parcels have been literally stolen from the current landowners with clear cooperation of the DNRC and State of Montana and are being transitioned into “Tribal water allocations.”” Again, 80% of the reservations Indians have left the reservations because they found better opportunities. The state pretends they can shell game our God given unalienable rights to the highest bidder.

13. It is time to stop this tribal welfare racketeering! In this CSKT Water Compact the tribes and the state set themselves up so they cannot be sued. Once this package of bills is enacted by Congress it will spread throughout all the states. The tribes, especially along the border, are being allowed to trade with foreign nations. This is an infectious boil on the back of America that must be stopped. Turkey is interested in developing nuclear power and affiliating with these 17 some northern tribes because of uranium on the reservations. Many Americans and Montanan's have a legitimate fear these bills are creating incrementalism and fractionalization of the states and United States. The federal agencies are helping to implement this compact before Congress has approved it.

- 12) This strategy of expanding tribal jurisdiction and authority thanks to Senator Tester's campaign for more tribalism and Sen. Lisa Murkowski, AL & Chair, Senate Committee on Energy & Natural Resources bundling is a covert operation. Additionally, this whole tribal-state-fed hand shake smells like Agenda 21 top down control versus a bottom up true and honest free Republic control system. This is an administrative expediting land and water taking billing stampede to cover up the agenda versus dealing with the problem directly! Cover ups are so much more politically correct and easier than admitting we have a major problem or two and dealing with it. This is shadow politics at its finest dialectic, i.e. hand over your state water rights or make a deal with us or we will see you in the cooked federal courts. Contracts are void when done in collusion or duress. The side doing the taking will tell you there was neither collusion or force because the majority of Montana State district representatives and senators were fully informed and freely voted for this CSKT Water Compact and were definitely not under any duress. This is a half truth. They were threatened by the tribes, a.k.a. feds. Deny and defy until the lie becomes the truth. Wait a few years and the lie becomes an international law, "a sucker is born every minute", and in the world of "legal "strangeness, the courts are stacked and the whining parties become annoying squeaky wheels, and slam bam, you have a new law on the federal registry, "All American native born, no definition necessary, will be funded $20 billion annual plus inflation, plus all water rights in the water basins surrounding "their" federal reservations plus the national forest plus the reservations and their acquired public enterprises will not have to pay taxes plus they will be given free medical care, womb to tomb." May we have the next "tribal member" in line who wishes to register with the global to federal banking cartel?

14. The real problem is the courts agenda to adopt and enforce international law using "aboriginal rights". Laws and treaties can be changed by the legislator. This "go along to get along" is a political coup of colluding benefiting groups involving the tribes, Montana state politicians and the federal government and the world banks, e.g. "unFederal unreserve" bank, IMF, World Bank, Bank of International Settlement. These global debt sting operations need lots of natural resources and tax taking to stay alive. They are big white global sharks who consume nations by rolling up state and local resource rights to big non government organizations who sit on multi-national boards and plan how to take over the world more than they already have. Poor countries and their native populations are their "Stepford Wives. An unaware soul will never suspect this until one day they wake up and their country, state and town traditions are gone. The vast majority of the Montana Citizens and unelected Montana government employees would not want these water compact takings if they knew the rest of the story. They are blinded by the dialectic deal! Montana politicians supporting these tribal takings have an agenda to get the tribes and state off their backs ASAP without a vote or a voice from the local Citizens. Zinke and Daines say nothing and take everything and they are Republicans. We understand Senator Tester. This taking has been cooking in the ovens of DeCeit, Inc. for decades. The states are being manipulated also. The big boys play games few can understand even if you believed it. The tribes are receiving preferential treatment because of historical guilt that has been fed by the cartel banking system to the tune of $20 billion annually and growing. If you do not think big, in this global sting operation, you will not understand the game. The tribes do not have constitutional rights. They are being used as a global to local laundering agency. They are the new Stepford Town, USA.

15. The toxic bills are listed below and on my web site

a. Bills of Attainder are "Legislative acts, no matter what their form, that apply either to named individuals or to easily ascertainable members of a group in such a way as to inflict punishment on them without a judicial trial", Black's Law Dictionary, Fifth Edition.

16. S.2012 is 792 pages with 363 amendments to include all of the tribes with dozens of sponsors all rolled up into one political sponsor. Our Congress is hiding and denying public information and vetting. This bill needs to be held for EIS, public comments and subcommittee hearings. There are big gaming tribal contributions. There are 567 registered tribes who are allowed to not only create a codependent political organizations on the dole with federal subsidies plus the right to give campaign tax taking donations to politicians. This acts to block any honest Montana senator or representative who wishes to run against the tribal takings. This is another unspoken problem in the tribal states like Montana. Again the CSKT-State-fed Water Compact is a bandaid not a true and honest fix of the real problems.

17. Also the state and federal legislative bill “passing” process is highly corrupted as I have laid out below at-a-glance, extracted from - <http://www.freedomforallseasons.org/FreedomFromWaterTakings.asp> .

How Bills are Easily Corrupted before the Vote is Taken

How Bills are Easily Corrupted Before the Vote is Taken

1. Bills are being passed without vetting against their own state constitution and the U.S. constitution. All bills need to be tested to constitutional muster BEFORE they pass. And this must be done by independent constitutional private attorneys from both sides NOT by any government employee most especially including the AG. Two independent attorneys from both sides of the bill must agree before that the bill passes constitutional muster and before the bill may be passed, i.e. no agreement, no bill!
2. Bills are being buried, bundled and stacked to obfuscate the takings. All bills need to be kept separate and distinct and tracked and transparent for public clarity and oversight.
3. Bills are not being fully read by those vetting on them and even then, legislators are not doing their homework to understand the full downstream impact of the takings.
4. There is no full disclosure to the communities impacted regarding the agenda of the bills. Pro and Con statements should be written by both sides with written rebuttal like state initiatives and made available to all impacted as well as posted on the web.
5. All state district and U.S. senators and representatives should vet each bill with their local communities before voting and passing and bills of the serious and controversial nature as the CSKT Water Compact taking should go thru an "initiative like process" where the pros and cons and rebuttals are clearly written out and made publicly available for local Citizens to understand and vote and/or get back to their local representative and senator.
6. Tribal reservations must not be allowed to make political contributions to any government. They are the only quasi "government" which is allowed to do so. Municipal governments cannot give funding to other governments and they are a much higher form of government than tribal reservations.⁷
7. To restate the above, state legislatures and the U.S. Congress are hiding and denying public information on bills to obfuscate the takings. All bills found using any of this treachery should be thrown out and those involved prosecuted to the fullest extent. We are long overdue to bring America back to a true and honest free Republic.

18. Finally here is the bottom line on disconnecting the global to local federal octopus from the states according to American Land Council Foundation.

LEGAL CASE: In 2015, Utah commissioned a team of nationally renowned constitutional law experts to conduct an exhaustive legal analysis (http://www.americanlandscouncil.org/ut_tpl_legal_analysis). Their official report confirmed the federal government has no lawful authority to permanently retain control of so much land within a state or to treat western states unequally, like second class citizens. The constitutional obligations of the federal government and the terms of the statehood enabling acts are the same for all states east and west of the Rocky Mountains, yet the federal government still controls over half of all land in the western United States. And this is only one piece of the global to local sting operation.

I implore you to hold these bills for EIS, public comment and subcommittee hearings. These bills are cooked in the broth of a box of beliefs which are boxed in beliefs to create a bipolar choice to give the national and international con artists what they want. Do not sucker for these faux choices.

Sincerely,
