

Jack et al,

This is a great post. There is another author and another book linked here:

<http://brinnonprosperity.org/forums/viewtopic.php?t=152>

Buchal is a Physicist (Harvard) and Lawyer (Yale), lives down in the Portland area. His research essays are here :

http://www.buchal.com/salmon/other\_salmon\_materials.htm

You are right to identify the Trilateral Commission, as it is these and other "Lords of the Universe", who have also entrapped our society in debt up to the eyeballs. A debt that for our children there is no way out, without access to our natural resources, and without property rights.

I am seeing all that Crittenden describes as in essence a 'rural cleansing', similar to land clearances in Scotland and Ireland. You will see the 'Lords' maneuvering 'our' government eventually toward the exchange of Western Lands for the 'national debt'. It is clear to me that these lovely people are attempting to sweep the serfs out of their way!

ken shock

<http://brinnonprosperity.org>

other Salmon stuff is here:

<http://brinnonprosperity.org/forums/viewforum.php?f=3>

jacksranchjrv <jacksranch@qwest.net> wrote:

I just started to read "Politics of Change- A Brief History" by Dr. Robert N. Crittenden copyright 2000. He also wrote "Salmon at Risk" in 1995. This material is a must read for all involved saving your personal property rights. I got the book and CD through CAPR with a donation. Crittenden's web site is <http://www.robertcrittenden.com> . He has some additional good reading regarding Land use and Watersheds .

One of our CAPR people was telling the story of the "Salmon at Risk" book around some beers the other night. The bottom line here is the decline of salmon was deliberately caused, mostly by manipulating the parts of their life cycle which the public does not see. Crittenden also talks about the Boldt decision and how screwed up it was and how it created an artificial environmental crisis. Its a long story worth reading in both of the books/CD above.

Dr. Crittenden says he naively went to the State offices of one of the largest environmental organizations (DOE?) to complain that the WA Dept. of Fish and Wildlife was cooperating with the Tribes to deliberately depress the salmon.... "The State Director agreed with him and said you will never be able to prove it."

Then Crittenden says he went to a local environmental newspaper and clearing house. "They agreed and told him the rest of the story. The heads of the State Dept. of Fish and Wildlife, Ecology and Natural Resources have been meeting weekly with the heads of the Tribal Fish Commission and the leading Environmental groups to decide how they would impact various salmon stocks to leverage environmental or land use management programs"

So the big picture is; global warming is a gross distortion , Endangered Species Act is highly ineffective, over hyped and grossly overreaching and over funded, the fish runs are being manipulated for political gain, big Eastern environmental money has shut down all government forests. The UN, the environmental Non Government Organizations and our government are using all this to take away our personal freedoms and liberties in this country including our property for a globalist agenda toward sustaining development, smart growth, eminent domain, breaking the US sovereignty, levying UN taxes, undermining the US Constitution and some international global companies are jumping on board to reap the profits.

Dr. Crittenden says that Weyerhaeuser was one of the major sponsors of declaring the Spotted Owl endangered along with the Ancient Forest Alliance, Sierra Club, Wilderness Society, US Fish and Wildlife Service. Turns out of course that the Spotted Owl nests not only in the old growth forest and they are going extinct because another predator owl(s). This contrived disaster shut down the logging industry and broke up families and dispersed them all over the country and cost the tax payers dearly. According to Crittenden, this artificial disaster created a shortage of timber and a sharp rise in prices in 1994 which was the most profitable year in Weyerhaeuser history.

You'll have to read both these books. Its pretty entangled and a complex story. He covers the whole gamut of takings from timber, to fish, to water rights to property rights to wilderness corridors plus a highly detailed history lesson in civilization. He even weaves in the Trilateral Commission. This is all a national embarrassment and a huge crisis of taking based all on manipulation of environmental data spinning out myths on a grand scale. Government has gone over the edge now and has become tyrannical and our worst nightmare.

Dr. Crittenden is a quantitative biologist with commendable credentials. Check him out.

Jack Venrick
Enumclaw, WA

- Visit your group "proprights" on the web.
  - To unsubscribe from this group, send an email to: proprights-unsubscribe@yahoogroups.com
  - Your use of Yahoo! Groups is subject to the Yahoo! Terms of Service.
-

---

Brings words and photos together (easily) with PhotoMail - it's free and works with Yahoo! Mail.

SPONSORED LINKS

Politics

American politics

Government

---

YAHOO! GROUPS LINKS

- Visit your group "proprights" on the web.
  - To unsubscribe from this group, send an email to: proprights-unsubscribe@yahoogroups.com
  - Your use of Yahoo! Groups is subject to the Yahoo! Terms of Service.
-